

The pictures I am sending are exhibited pieces that hold the general topic - the cycle of love in time - in every piece. The five paintings are made in 2011-2012, in every of them, colour plays an intensive and important role.

Oil paintings have been created trusting the intuition, expressively about themes important to an individual and understandable for the audience.

It is not important for me to compartmentalize works figurative or abstract as one can be the base of other, and the other cannot exclude the first.

I believe what counts, is the feeling the spectator gets, and my purpose is to give emotionally effective moments of pleasure and peace.
