Genijus

Šis darbas buvo sukurtas po apsilankymo buvusioje skulptoriaus Gedimino Jokūbonio (g. 1927 m.) dirbtuvėje Kudirkos g., Vilniuje (dabar „Apvalioji“ studija). Ta erdvė pasirodė beveik sakrali savo tobulu interjeru, neįprasto išplanavimo ir su daug šviesos. Kiek kūrybinė erdvė turi įtakos kūrybai? Tai, tam tikra prasme, yra vieta, kurioje jungiasi idėja ir jos įkūnijimas (pavertimas objektu ar veiksmu, užrašymas žodžiais, pavaizdavimas vizualiai ir t.t.). Tai riba tarp išorinio ir vidinio pasaulių, tarpas, kuriame atsispindi kūrėjo sukurta harmonija ar tam tikra tvarka, vieta stichiniam vaizduotės tekėjimui, skirta sukurti tobulas susikaupimo, racionalių apmąstymo, bei įkvėpimo sąlygas. Visą tai galima būtų palyginti su augalų fotosinteze, kurios metu saulės energija yra naudojama anglies dioksido ir vandens pavertimui į molekules, reikalingas augimui - išorinis chaosas, informacija panaudojami kūrybiniuose procesuose – visa tai vyksta tam skirtose ląstelėse -chloroplastuose, apgaubtuose dviejų išorinių membranų.

Genius

This work was created after a visit to the former studio of sculptor Gediminas Jokūbonis (b. 1927.) in Kudirkos str., Vilnius (now “Round” studio). The space seemed almost sacral with a perfect interior, unusual layout and a lot of light. How much creative space affect the creativity? It's the place where the idea connects with its implementation (it's converted to an object or action, translated into words by writing it or it's portrayed in the picture etc). It's the boundary between the inner and outer worlds, a space created by using a certain order and harmony, a place for imagination flow, aimed to create the perfect construction for rational reflection and inspiration conditions. It all can be compared to photosynthesis, used by plants in which energy from sunlight is used to convert carbon dioxide and water into molecules needed for growth - external chaos, information is used in the creative process - all takes place in special plant cells - chloroplasts wrapped in two membranes.
