Connection

Most of us always are creating grids and webs either it is in social network or the time we are spending with friends or families. This particular painting represents these connections made by man. In some way these connections are power and need to somehow synchronize yourself with modern society we live in.

ANSIS ROZENTĀLS

Visual art direction got an early age, when I was regularly taken to museums, main exhibitions and galleries. As well as living in Alberta Street apartment and enjoying the presence of Art Nouveau and paintings of Janis Rozentāls. But seriously I started doing art at Janis Rosentāls Riga Art School. Currently studying painting at the Latvian Art Academy In my paintings I'm mainly tackling the topics of individual connections between society. How one individual is searching for the truth and the answers ethere these questions are reaching philosophical borders or not, they are always there.
