

Prince is main character on my latest paintings.

Fiction, maybe it is my alter ego. A bit depressive, lonely and, for himself boring personality. Crown on Prince's head as a sign that he is a focus of his own life. It is also limitation. More or less measure, everyone possess it. Prince in his environment - in communal flat or house, or where ever he lives or is on a visit. Petty things around him. Things, that also could not to be there and nothing much would change.
