

We live in the information age. It's not hard to lose yourself in it. To sort out the essential isn't easy. Information flow is infinite and you better learn to surf in it. The waves are constantly changing and learning never ends.

Margot Õunapuu

(b. 1988, Estonia)

I was born in Tallinn, Estonia in 1988. First I started to study Clothing Technical Design in TTK University of Applied Sciences but I discovered that I wanted to be related to the arts more directly. After that I spend almost a year as a volunteer in Palermo, Sicily.

As long as I can remember I have been interested by the visual world and drawing. Before my studies in Estonian Art Academy I took drawing lessons for two years. During my studies I learned different mediums but my favorite is painting. In 2015 I graduated my bachelor degree in Free Arts in Estonian Art Academy and now I am studying painting masters there.

I have participated in many group exhibitions. Most important for me were Estonian Painters Association overview exhibition "Continuity and novelty" and annual nude art exhibition "Men and Woman" in Pärnu.