Kiekvienas naujai gimęs žmogus atsineša savo tautos istoriją ir vėliau gyvendamas yra savotiškas jos ambasadorius. Esame atsakingi už praeitį ir tai kas bus ateityje, Mūsų protėviai mums tokie pat reikšmingi kaip ir mūsų tėvai.

Tapant portretą dalyvavo ir ne mažiau į procesą įsitraukė Rašelės mama. Stengtasi pavaizduoti matomi daiktai, detalės, pojūtis.

Every new-born person brings the history of his nation and later lives daily life as it's ambassador. We are responsible for the past and what will happen in the future and our ancestors to us are as significant as our parents.

The main goal of was to show my Jewish friend Rashel at her natural environment.

So many objects : bottles, statuettes.

Managed to use everything that my eyes covered.

That evening we also spent with her mother, who probably was involved more than Rashel itself.

I was born in 1989 in Vilnius. All my life I remember myself as a musician. Long studies and later followed performances and gigs with various bands in Lithuania and abroad.

After being graduated in Lithuanian academy of music and theatre as a professional musician, I discovered painting. This happened during my first visit to Austria where my brother and sister were both studying art. At that time I visited almost all possible museums in Vienna and was very impressed by the outstanding works of Albrecht Dürer, Leonardo da Vinci, Egon Schiele, Oscar Kokoschka, Gustav Klimt and others.

I started to draw everything around me using the technique I discovered in childhood. After practicing painting regularly I became satisfied with the results. So I can call myself a self-thought painter.

My first solo exhibition was held in the underground studio in Vilnius at February 26, 2016. Visitors saw my hand painted abstract books with the many pictures inside. Also I prepared series of paintings on “Walking” theme and more than 40 works made in a botanical garden.

In 24 of March followed another exhibition. It was 25 “Winter Sketches” for Skalvija Cinema’s cafeteria’s gallery.

From 11 until 31 of August, among many famous artists from Lithuania I participated in exhibition Jazz/Rock’n’Roll/Canvas held by Saint Jonas Street gallery in Vilnius.

Also I successfully sell my art online.
